

Generation Pound

Last Wednesday the children got to experience a different form of physical exercise called Generation Pound. Jamie Moss, together with one of our parents Debbie Gibson, led the children in their first taste of this form of exercise. Generation Pound is a workout and 'rockout', with the children performing movements rhythmically to music, whilst also using sticks in a way inspired by drumming – hence the term 'rockout'! I saw and heard a lot of enthusiasm from the children, so thank you Jamie and Debbie.

Sponsored Read

Thank you to all the families who have participated in the sponsored read over the Christmas holidays. With the money raised we will be consulting the children about the books they would like to buy that will be of interest to them.

Before we announce the final total and purchase the books, I would like to request that any outstanding sponsorship money is sent into the school office as soon as possible.
